

Triple Tower with Turbo Challenge, Physical, Banister Bars

School aged children report in surveys, that they really enjoy spinning and rotating movements, closely followed by climbing and sliding. This huge, triple tower unit offers a variety of spinning, rotating, balancing, climbing and sliding together with friends. It welcomes players from age 6 - 12 years and up and is roomy and sturdy enough to take other ages, too. This means that parents and care givers are welcome to play along with their children. Apart from being a lot of fun, this unit stimulate the child's muscle strength in arms, legs and core, when they use the Turbo Challenge. The jumping up and down from the activity, the children build on their bone density. The climbing, gliding and rotating stimulate the child's motor skill development.
